We German students feel very fortunate to have had the privilege of living in Northville for a year and of attending Northville High School. This year has meant a lot to us and the experiences we have had and the opinions we have won will not only be decisive for our lives and thinking, but likewise for a lot of other people in our schools, clubs and towns at home in Germany. By the kind help of the faculty, we have been able to visit: Michigan State College, University of Michigan, Lapeer, Northville Mental Hospital, Detroit schools, Football and Basketball games in Lansing and Ann Arbor, and the television station WWJ in Detroit. At this time, we want to give our deeply felt thanks to the teachers and students. Thank you for the wonderful way you have made us enjoy our time in the United States.

CLASS HISTORY

Our story starts 'way back in September 1948, when a group of bashful kids elected Charles Ely, President; Wayne Hoffman, Vice-President; Peter Pletsch, Secretary and George Stalker, Treasurer. Was this a boys' class? Somehow we persuaded Miss Lance and Mr. Menees to help us survive the year. Great athletes of our freshman year were Leon Holman and Charlie Dickinson who helped to beat Plymouth in football, after thirteen years of losing. Who helped cheer them on? Pep Club members Judy Sechlin, Maxine Clark, Ila Baxter, and Janice Smith--of course! Class activities during the year included two dances, the one during the football season having some very unusual advertising. You would never have known Charles Lapham in the tent-size clown suit and the sandwich sign displaying "The Green Frosh"! Bashful? Before the year was out many senior fellows were seen escorting freshman girls to formal dances and other social events.

In September 1949, with Leon Holman as our President; Mary Lou Litsenberger, Vice-President; David Lee, Secretary and Howard Meyer, Treasurer, we really started going places. Pretending to be actresses and actors, almost half of our class, along with other Drama Club members, helped to put on three one act plays. With Miss Panattoni in charge, they did very well. Skip Burkman managed the Varsity Basketball team while Bob Dayton tried his luck with the varsity football team. We had many important players on the teams that year. After much debate and discussion, we ordered our class rings in the spring. During the year we sponsored two successful dances, under the guidance of our sponsors, Mr. Jones and Mr. Burton.

Our Junior year began with a bang! Charles Ely, Don Maclean, Cece Bloom and Judy Sechlin, and our sponsors, Miss Lance and Mr. Mollema, led the way. Our first project was selling magazines. The competition was hard, since there were so many industrious salesmen. After pestering almost every citizen of the village, the class brought in $1754, with Gail Matzen, earning the wrist watch for first place. We had three charter members of Miss Panattoni's recently organized debate team: Andrea Owen, Gail Matzen, and Marilyn Funk who in their first year of competitive debating went as far as the State Quarter Finals. Following this, tryouts were held for our play, "Mother Was A Freshman". Our stage was colorful and effective, and after two successful nights, the class profited $200. We leaned back in relief--just one more jump ahead: the J-Hop. In the meantime, the N-Club was holding its annual initiation, with Howie Meyer leading the procession with green hair and wearing a stunning dress. We also sold Gobby hats and had great fun wearing them to basketball games. However, the teachers disagreed with our policy of wearing them in classes. The theme for our J-Hop was "Chinatown". For some reason, we weren't very industrious in planning the Hop and there was considerable scrambling at the last minute. One such ingenious idea was to simulate a waterfall with steam rising from a piece of dry ice. This did not materialize. Although our decorations weren't out of this world, Al Rice and his music was.

The final miles of our long journey were full of exciting events with Don Maclean, Fred Weihe, Gay Duerson, and Mary Lou Litsenberger leading our class under the sponsorship of Mr. Mollema and Mr. Smith. For our last year, our class was very fortunate to have four German exchange students, Ingrid Haenzel, Ingeborg Rothenpieler, Charles Wursching, and Ludwig Jagla, who participated in many of our activities. The exchange program was reciprocal. Dave Lee was our representative in Europe for four months. We started our year by posing for the photographers in October, receiving our pictures in November. Hollywood, here we come. . . . A big event in October was the homecoming game with our charming queen, Gay Duerson, and her attendants, Mary Lou Litsenberger and Maxine Clark. In December Senior girls sold Christmas cards making a nice little profit. Next came our sensational senior play "January Thaw", directed by Miss "Pan". On the last night one of those unforgettable parties was held at Gail Matzen's. On the evening of April 25, our gym was decorated to represent "The Lovliest Night of the Year". The seniors and their dates at the Prom danced to the music of a good Detroit Orchestra. For those band members at the dance the most important question was, "Will I get more than an Hour's sleep?", for the following morning, the band journeyed to Lansing to enter state competition. Our trip to Washington began May 10. It was very educational, as we took in everything from museums to a moonlight cruise. And then it came--our graduation. Baccalaurate was beautiful, Class Night was nonsensical as usual, and caps, gowns and diplomas provided the final climax.

In writing this final chapter of our history, we want our teachers, parents and the people of Northville to realize that we appreciate their instructions and patience. In the future we shall work hard in order to live up to the high standards you have helped us set for ourselves. Good luck to the undergraduates.

Our Senior Play--January Thaw--was without a doubt one of the most super-colossal productions ever staged at Northville High. We worked like beavers to make our final artistic effort a good one, because we put it off 'till the last minute. (Remember the horrified look on Tootsie's face when she fell through the stairs?) We got our noses plenty dusty poking in attics for butter churns, ox yokes, and spice boxes.

The plot of January Thaw was unusual to say the least. A modern family remodeled an old house, converting all the old utensils into ornaments. When the former occupants, an old couple and their son returned, the confusion was immediate. The play showed a clash of two ideologies, modern Democrat and old fashioned Republicans. Their decision finally to live and work together left the audience with a satisfied feeling.

The night of the play was pandemonium. (Thought we'd never get our wigs on straight.) Were you ever so scared in your life? Why was it that the lights had to pick that night to go on the blink? And wouldn't you think the pig (A real live one too) could have picked a better time to squeal up and down the hall than in the middle of the second act?

The party after the play was a roaring success. Everybody gorged on tuna fish sandwiches, cokes, and cake. The poor house positively bulged at the seams with dancing, eating, screaming, all being tried in the same room. And were we mistaken or did we see smoke puffing through the cracks--those awful cigars.

Well, there it was and none of us would have wanted to miss a minute of it, the fun or the hard work. We're leaving it to you, future classes of N. H. S.--do better if you can!

STUDIO "X"

The first and third hour speech classes have given a weekly broadcast every Thursday from the new glassed-in broadcasting room.

The broadcasts included Senior, Junior, Sophomore, and Freshman news, fashions and fads, club news, current steady couples, sports, Senior boy and girl of the week and reviews of colleges.

The speech director is Miss Panattoni.

The Junior Class started this school year by electing the following officers: President, Jim Lapham; Vice President, Terry Duchesneau; Secretary, Marlene Weiss; Treasurer, Judy Tetzlaff. Under the guidance of Miss Lance and Mr. Jones, we sponsored two bake sales, three dances and sold programs at football games. Our J-Hop in November was a big success. Our play, "Cheaper by The Dozen" was presented in May.

Projects and campaigns undertaken and completed this year by the council were a food concession stand, March of Dimes, Blood Donation Drive and a revision of the constitution. They dealt with various personal problems throughout the year and have promoted all citizenship reforms.

The council participated actively in the Wayne-Oakland League and hopes that the Northville Council of 1952-53 will participate even more fully in this activity.

During 1951-52, the Ida B. Cooke Chapter of the Teacher's Club has been more than busy. Under the direction of Mrs. Egge, Mrs. Smith and Mr. Yahne, it has included in its study course for the year a series of panel discussions based on understanding ourselves and others, and serving as Teacher's aids in the elementary school. The club particularly enjoyed two trips during the Spring sessions; a trip to the Michigan Education Association, Headquarters in Lansing, and a trip to Cranbrook School.

JUNIOR PLAY

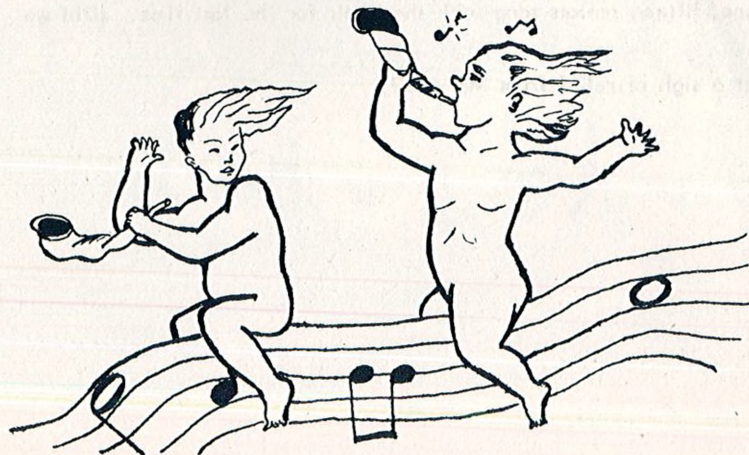

In May, the Juniors presented "Cheaper by the Dozen", the well-known comedy about an efficiency expert's home life with twelve (count 'em) kiddies.

BAND

The band, under the direction of Mr. Lee and Assistant Director Mr. Page, participated in many varied activities. In the summer the band presented several concerts in the village park and one in South Lyon. Northville was splendidly represented by the band in the colorful 250th Anniversary Parade of Detroit and at the Michigan State Fair. During football season, the band entertained the crowds with colorful half-time shows. The band, stepping high with new shoes, went through difficult formations to the tune of stirring marches and clever novelty numbers. Again the band played in the U. of M. famous Band Day parade and half-time show in which nearly 100 bands from all over Michigan participated. When the basketball season commenced, the band was still maintaining the school spirit at the pep meetings. This spring the band went to the Spring Festival where it competed with other bands and was voted with other schools of its class. The One rating we received is really something to be proud of.

The band presented its annual concert in which numerous selections were presented. Not only does it do a fine job of marching, but plays symphonic numbers as well. A large majority of the members played in the League Band. This group is a mass band made up of the best players that the five member-towns have to offer. The band can certainly feel proud of the reputation it has gained during the past school year because of the enthusiasm and interest which it has given to the school.

The Pep Club, sponsored by Miss Kilps, is composed of six varsity and five reserve cheerleaders. During the year they revised their constitution. In November, the Pep Club attended the Cheerleaders' Clinic at the University of Michigan and participated in the halftime activities.

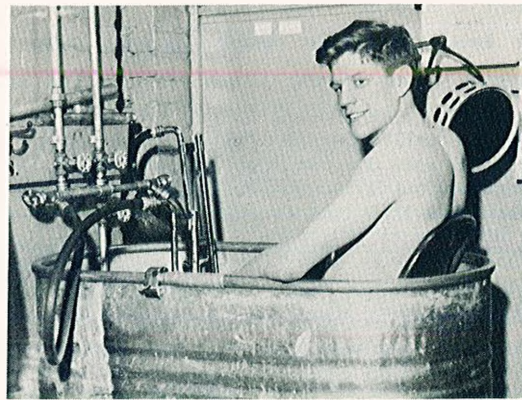

Ruth Fulkerson and Pat Read were co-captains during the Football season and Joan Toussaint and Lill Dickensen were co-captains during the Basketball season.

The student body wishes Judy Sechlin, Maxine Clark, Joan Toussaint, and Pat Read, the five graduating cheerleaders, the best of luck.

The Library Club's purpose is to train students to help in the school library. The members give their time in order that the rest of the students may use the library more efficiently. This year fifteen members attended a work shop at Jackson High School. Later, four delegates attended a week-end camp at Clear Lake. The money to finance these activities was raised by a candy sale.

A Book Week program was given in the form of a variety radio show. At this time thirty-nine members were initiated.

The Council this year sold milk during the lunch hour and pop corn after school and during home football and basketball games. Seeds and pencils were also sold. Out of the money earned, a flute for the music department was bought. Seven dollars earned by getting the largest number of blood donors cards was given by Joan Page. Mr. Page's homeroom donated $9.85 from a box social. The Junior Student Council has voted to contribute one hundred and fifty dollars for a trophy case for our school.

Ypsilanti: Lack of experience hurt us here. Our only touchdown was by Holman.

Clarenceville: We led at the half, anyway! Touchdowns: Holman and Bingley.

Clarkston: The team looked like champs, leading all the way in this one.

Milford: This one was a battle. Scores by Holman and Johnson.

Centerline: Several long runs. Touchdowns by Holman, Bingley and Curl.

Inkster: A slow start but lots of excitement in the second half. Holman, Bingley and Maclean scored.

Holly: The last obstacle in our path to the league championship. Everything clicked. Scores by Holman, Ely, and Freydl.

Brighton: We thought we had this one in the bag but some bad breaks left us on the short end of the score.

The Mustangs shared League Honors with Milford. Many senior letter winners are being lost through graduation, but all in all it was a good season.
