Imagine a world with no hunger or fear; a world where peace is the only dictator. Would we have a brave new world, or a utopia of a higher order? Each is within our power to create. The responsibility for our future lies with us alone.

We are all images, whether we look in a mirror or a drop of dew. Our memories will mold our future and our future lies within our imagination.

Student Life

Whether they take part in activities in school or outside of the campus, NHS students are constantly on the move. Working at a job, playing sports, joining an activity, or just hanging around, students find their time outside of school one of the most enjoyable experiences of their high school careers.

Homecoming, sports, and organizations: Northville High School students enjoy diverse student activities.

Activities

With the new Wednesday morning schedule, students have been given the opportunity to participate in many activities before school, ranging from open gym to SAT workshops. Rounded off with after-school activities, weekend events, and, of course, school, students enjoy a well-balanced schedule.

Homecoming, service learning, and the Victorian Festival keep students busy Matiss Kukanis and Brad Borgia discuss literature while lifting weights.

Mr. Fischer presents service learning projects for Maybury State Park.

Nick Tomasek transplants a pyramid from Memphis, Egypt to the NHS stadium for Homecoming Around The World.

Secret agent Dave McCulloch says, "The president has left the building," as he escorts Jodi Fischer, Anthony DeBenedet, and Arin Hornberger.

The drunk-driving car swerves to hit another cone as students look on.

NHS students work the booths at the Victorian Festival.

Mandy Hallberg uses Maxwell's Silver Hammer as she works on the band's Yellow Submarine Float.

What a great year

With over twelve extracurricular activities, students have the opportunity to choose from many interest groups. This year, Northville High School welcomes the Medieval Society to the list. Formerly an underground group, the Society was reorganized and meets Thursdays to rehearse their characters and plan trips to reenactments. Other activities students can enjoy are Science Olympiad, Quiz Bowl, S.A.D.D., Forensics, and much more.

Andrea Crawford says, "Have you ever had one of those dreams where you come to school without pants?"

Hey Jessica Scheidt! Are you sure the pen is mightier than the sword?

A t h l e t i c s

This year has seen many Mustang victories. With the football team keeping the Novi-Northville jug, women's basketball entering the playoffs, and swimmers making state cuts, spirit has been at an all time high. With this year's seniors moving onto college, their teammates are saying goodbye to good friends and looking forward to successful seasons in the future.

Northville football keeps the jug.

Jason MacIver takes the ball away from a Farmington player.

Academics

With the addition of A.P. classes, N.H.S. students have been up to their necks in work. With the help of excellent faculty, however, students are able to explore new facets of their studies as well as expand their knowledge in present work.

Students and faculty work hard for a successful year.

Old and New Administrators Lead The Way

Mr. Maile, our new assistant principal, came here from Plymouth-Salem High School where he was a chemistry teacher. He came to Northville High School to make a difference and change the school in a positive way. He enjoys working at NHS because he feels that our size makes us more family oriented. His education includes a bachelor's degree in Science Education and an associate degree in Psychology. His initial degrees were completed at U of M Dearborn and he is currently working on his EDS specialist degree at Eastern Michigan University. He has also been invited into the EMU doctoral program. When he's not bogged down with students (especially concerning tardies and absences) he takes on the special challenge of trying to influence the school. When he's not dealing with students he enjoys jogging and the occasional guitar playing. He also loves spending time with his wife, Cathy, and his three children: Michael (14), Angela (12), and Jennifer (8).

Charlie Stilec

Charlie Stilec is a legend at NHS. His beneficial programs help students deal with topics ranging from substance abuse to family problems. He also runs the popular S.A.D.D., Students Against Driving Drunk. Mr. Stilec's favorite part of his job is working with kids and "seeing families get back on track". He especially likes Northville's emphasis on family and community, and being able to walk downtown.

Mr. Stilec attended Detroit Country Day High School, and got his Bachelor's degree at Alma College. He went on to get his Master's degree from Eastern Michigan.

He is married with two children, a girl and a boy.

When he manages to take time out from his busy schedule, he enjoys fishing, photography, and life in general. He also has two dogs, a cat,

and a chinchilla.

One thing Mr. Stilec dislikes is communities refusing to accept that there is a substance abuse problem, and taking the measures necessary to stop these problems.

Counselors Imagine the Future

Every year the counselors involve themselves in each student's lives. From arranging schedules, to planning futures, to just giving advice they are involved in some way or another. This year we added a few new additions to our counseling staff. We welcome counselors Mr. Turner and Mrs. Sole, and secretary Ms. Purcell. They help the students set and achieve goals for future planning.

Experiment with the Imagination

Dennis Slattery

One of our newest chemistry teachers is Mr. Slattery. He attended Warren Technological Institute for three years to study Engineering. From there he transferred to Wayne State University where he received a bachelor's degree in science education and math education. He enjoys teaching at Northville because of his student interaction and the fact that he can count on something new all the time. He loves Northville's small town attitude and the comradery of the NHS staff. One disgruntlement with teaching would be the homework. As a student, two of his teachers led him to where he is today. His seventh grade science teacher, Mr. Ryan, interested him in the subject. He recalls one incident where the students made maple syrup from tree sap they collected. They then added it to mini pancakes and fed it to the lab animals. Mr. Slattery also enjoyed his high school math teacher, Mr. Saroka because he was the first person to speak to him as an adult and was not out to get the students. In his spare time Mr. Slattery enjoys golf, water sports, and camping. He also enjoys going home to his wife LaDonna who he has been married to since March 11, 1995. If Mr. Slattery could tell seniors to retain one piece of information it would be that you need maturity to succeed. "You'll get nothing in life unless you do it yourself."

Imagine The World's Cultures

When students at NHS think of the social butterfly in the English/Foreign Language departments, the image of Mrs. Lisa Rohde-Barbeau immediately leaps into our minds. The yearbook staff was interested in finding a little more about this interesting woman. Some influential people in her life include a number of authors and her Humanities teacher. This teacher is the reason that she teaches today and created her interest in art and history. The authors, Margaret Atwood and Tony Morrison, are important to her because they are concerned with women's issues. If she had time to read only one novel, it would be Tony Morrison's Beloved. In her vast span of movie knowledge, some of her favorites consist of House of Spirits &

Ladyhawke. She loves most to spend time with the people who are close, such as her husband, Chris Barbeau. Mrs. Rohde likes NHS's English department better than other schools because of the friendly people and the camaraderie. If there is one quotation she wishes to leave her students it's that "Nothing great is ever achieved without enthusiasm," (Emerson).

French and German Trip: 1994

Twenty-seven French and German students from Northville High School accompanied their teachers, Elaine Prestel and Judith Kammeraad, July 13-28 on a trip to Europe. The teachers had worked on the planning of the trip for two years beforehand, and the students had received training in monthly meetings for a year before their departure.

"Wakey, Wakey" rings through the head of Cari Dalziel after too many late nights and early mornings enjoying the thrills of Europe.

Ben Adis, Allison Anti, and Chad Gilchrist rest after climbing to a plateau overlooking the sea.

The foreign language students spent six days in each of the two target language areas: Munich, Salzburg, the northern Alps, Melk, a Danube River cruise, Vienna, and Graz for the German students; Nice, the French Riviera, Monaco, Paris, and Versailles for the French students. The trip included the northern Italian cities of Venice and Verona on the way between the German and French areas and ended up with three days in London.

Participants included: Ben Adis, Allison Anti, Timothy Beemer, Jessica Chall, Amanda Cole, Melissa Cole, Carolyn Dalziel, Charles Gilchrist, Kelly Hoskin, Katherine Johnson, James Orr, Tanya Pado, Jamie Purslow, Karen Roach, Scott Schaffer, Jessica Scheidt, Matthew Seluk, Leslie Snyder, David Somershoe, Annie Sommerman, Jill Wodowski, Sara Wood, and Matthew Woody. Six students from other districts were also part of the group.

Participants in-

With only two days experience of European culture, Patrick McNeal, Scott Schaffer, Dave Somershoe, Tim Beemer, and Matt Woody plan to conquer the historic castle overlooking the city of Salzburg, Austria.

Imagine All the Foreigners

This past summer a number of NHS students were able to experience life from a different point of view. Nine different cities were the main points of interests for the 20 plus Spanish students on this eventful trip. They began on a flight to Madrid and, after journeys to Barcelona, Nimes, Nice, Pisa, Florence, Rome, and Venice, they finally returned to Detroit Metro from Milan. All of the students have returned safely with memories and friendships which they will cherish forever.

Jennifer Redden enjoyed pestering Nathan Forney the entire trip. No matter how loud you scream, Chris Gomersall, those pesky pigeons won't leave Venice, or your arm! All of these foriegners love the "Nice" view from France's hilltops.

Not even the Leaning Tower of Pisa could sway friendships made on the trip.

Melissa Michaelis found the fountain of youth in Barcelona.

IMC Lets Students Imagine

Mr. Chris Ford was inspired by his father who was a college professor. He graduated from the University of Michigan and came to Northville after working in Washington D.C. for awhile. He says he enjoys the size of Northville, its people, and its students eagerness to learn. He enjoys teaching history and government, but dislikes administrative paperwork. In his spare time, Mr. Ford enjoys travelling with his wife Michelle, who is a research associate in the department of physiology at the University of Michigan. He also enjoys reading, running and playing squash.

ENGLISH

Melissa McClain decided to become a teacher after she was inspired by her twelfth grade English teacher. Graduating from the University of Virginia, she began teaching at NHS in 1993. When she is not grading papers, Ms. McClain enjoys reading, going to the movies, and playing the guitar. Sometimes her students are allowed the rare treat of hearing her play the guitar. As her favorite part of teaching at Northville, Ms McClain claims that she likes the kids here. Though she has no children, she enjoys life at home with her husband. The students certainly hope that her career at Northville is a long one.

House Cats

Lookout for house cats as they hop about on any type of furniture.
Fur, purring, and static electricity greet you as you walk through the front door.
They prowl about in the dark waiting to pounce on anything that moves,
Leaving their fallen hair all over Timbuktu.
Be careful if you go to the kitchen,
They rub your legs and meow at you,
Like a crying child looking for mother at a mall.
"Curiosity kills the cat" holds true for the Don Gatos.
They peer down at you from the edge of the railing at stairs edge.
You scream to them, "Get back!"
But like seven year olds, they don't listen and get closer.
While brushing teeth, they sit at the edge of the toilet;
Watching, hoping to exist as human.
After eating liver with chives,
Housecats make sewage treatment plants smell like freshly baked sweet cherry pie,
On top of the awful liver smell that canned food leaves behind.
Housecats long for the out- of -doors.
Every time the front door opens,
They run to the crack of the closing door
Like a prisoner waiting for the right moment to escape on the laundry truck.
Awaiting a quick escape to help fulfill their primal urge.
Housecats most of all make remarkable companions
As foxhounds do to fox hunters.

"Something, Somewhere"

In the blue kingdom
Between mountains and deserts
Between woods and meadows
Lives a mysterious creature

Is invisible carpet
Which laying on the ground
Only takes out her hundred arms and looks for smaller and weaker
To kill

To put them into her beak
Awful sound which you can't hear
Just red blood dissolves everywhere
And swims to her home
And wait again
To kill

She lives for killing
With her big head
And with her long arms
How does she look like
Like a volcano with lava
Like a mountain with falls
Simple dangerous and beautiful

In my room, wide awake, I strained to look out the glass that separated me from the outside world.
"I can't do this anymore" was the only thought in my head.
the icy frost on my window seemed to spell out.
Death.

I could hear the faint mumble of my father's voice when he talked to my mom on the phone. The rest of the house was

I dragged my lifeless body to the bathroom but left the Lights

I felt numb and Dead. I took the pills next to my sink and went back to my room. At that moment my Mind was as blank as the stare on my face.

I swallowed 33 pills, they tasted like plastic and the water was cool.

Then razor, wrist, and red. the smell was musty and it felt warm like a blanket.

Waiting there eager for the death to begin I changed my mind and got scared.

Fitness Postpones Death

Our feature Physical Education instructor, Mr. John Briningstool, has a great reason to identify with students. As a teen, Mr. Briningstool attended N.H.S. and graduated in 1985. His role models were Mr. Dent and Dorrian Sanbothe, and coaches, Mr. Schumacher and Mr. Colligan. Their demands gave him the jump start for

Wayne State, where he graduated from in 1990. As his teachers were to him, he likes to be a role model to the kids in his classes. Aside from teaching P.E. he coaches Varsity Football, Freshman Basketball, and Track & Field. When he's not at school, he enjoys riding his Sea Doo. Though he is a history Major, Mr. Briningstool tries to convey to his students that gym is still an important part of high school. He makes students believe that they all need a sense of self worth and an understanding of the responsibilities that they have as citizens.

Technology for the Future

Jim Conzelman

Classes such as Technical Drawing, Engineering Drawing, Auto Tech and others are offered in the Industrial Technology Department. Mr. Deskovitz, one of the teachers, feels that the most important things his students should learn in class are self-discipline and hard work. These characteristics plus the Northville technical courses build a strong foundation for students planning to advance into the technology field.

Richard Deskovitz

Life Skills Prepare for the Future

Imagine All the Melodies

The Marching/Symphonic bands enjoyed a productive 1994-95 year. A high point for the band was the arrival of brand new marching uniforms, paid for in part by Music Boosters fundraising. Activities such as the pop can and bottle drive and calendar sales were both fun and profitable. A new change for the Marching band, with more than 130 members was the division during the school day to form two symphonic bands. Both bands successfully competed in festival. Fifth hour band received first at state festival. Members of both bands received high marks at solo and ensemble. The 1994-95 year was highly enjoyed by all.

NHS Choirs Carry a Tune

The NHS choirs enjoyed a full, successful year. With several sold out concerts throughout the year, the choirs gave both challenging and entertaining performances. The main project of the year was the large production of the Madrigal Dinner, held on March 5th and 6th. Members of the concert choir made costumes and prepared and served the feast. Also during the busy spring schedule, the choirs competed in festival, earning high ratings once again. All in all, the choirs enjoyed a highly successful year.

Exchange Students Comment on NHS Experiences

Moritz Essinger

From Giesse, Germany, 11th grader Moritz Essinger is already making his second trip to the USA. Since he spoke English before coming here, the transition went smoothly. He believes "there are less rules" at NHS and "it's bigger." His hobbies include playing Advanced Dungeons and Dragons, bicycling, listening to music, and using the computer. Moritz likes the weather better in Germany, but thinks "the kids are cooler here."

Tom Ficht

Tom Ficht is an 11th grade foreign exchange student from Germany. "America is really different from Germany. The customs and sports are not the same," he says. Some of the sports he likes are German handball, mountain climbing, and, of course, soccer. He likes not only to play sports, but enjoys the lifestyle of Americans. He says that NHS is smaller than schools in Berlin, Germany, where the schedule is already chosen for students. "It was more strict in Germany," he adds.

Jo Anna Remiszewska

Senior Jo Anna Remiszewska is a native of Poland. She likes Northville High School but thinks there are "too many rules." She particularly dislikes the tardy rule. An avid reader, Jo Anna also enjoys horseback riding, swimming, and playing volleyball. As her first visit to America, she comments on how she finds the different cultures and people interesting. "I'd like to thank all the people who helped me. They make America almost like home."

Marina Weis

Marina Weis is a 12th grader from Brazil. This is already her second visit to the USA because she came to Disney World six years ago. Although she was only at NHS for second semester, she believes America is a really nice place to live and NHS is a good school to attend. We asked her to tell us the best and worst things about America. She said, "The countries are so different, and they are hard to compare. I really like America." Her favorite hobby is a Brazilian sport called Caborira which is a sport that combines dancing and fighting. Marina said that the weather was especially interesting, since it was her first time seeing snow.

National Honors Society

National Honors Society is an organization made up of students receiving a 3.5 grade point average or higher. Under student leadership and that from sponsors, Chris Cronin and Lisa Rohde - Barbeau, students work in a variety of community service programs in order to gain credits. Some of these community programs include ringing bells for the Salvation Army, working at local soup kitchens, and holding canned food and clothing drives. Students must meet the GPA requirement and complete 10 credits of service each semester to remain in the society. Andrea Crawford says, "Imagine the design!!"

Imagining the German Culture

Der Deutsche Verein hatte jeden Monat eine Versammlung. Wir unternahmen dieses Jahr viel miteinander. Wir sahen den Film Zurück in die Zukunft. Und auch viele andere Filmen. Wir spielten auch viele Brettspiele. Wir fuhren nach Ann Arbor, um einen deutschen film an der Universität zu sehen.

Unsere Präsidenten waren Scott Galea und Adrienne Dunkerley. Unsere Sekretärinnen waren Donna

Maupin und Wendy Tao.

Die mit den höchsten Noten auf dem AATG Examen waren Scott Galea, Amity Heckemeyer, und Wendy Tao. Wir bekamen etwas Mithilfe von einem Deutschen Verein in Ann Arbor.

Der Deutsche Verein gab auch finanzielle Unterstützung an das Deutsche Camp, das jeden Frühling bei Proud Lake stattfindet. Die Schüler von NHS hatten viel Erfolg in Wettkampf mit Schülern aus anderen Schulen bei dem Camp. Die sprachen wirklich am besten-

-WIEDER!

Wir begannen den deutschen Ehrenverein Delta Epsilon Phi, in Verbindung mit dem nationalen Verein, in den viele unserer Deutschschüler eingingenommen wurden.

Zu Weihnachten hatten

wir eine große Party! Wir schöpften nach deutscher Sitten eine gemütliche Atmosphäre, mit viel Naschen von Speisen, die wir nach authentischen deutschen Rezepten backten und kochten.

Vielen Dank an die Leute, die uns halfen und an unsere Lehrerin "Frau."

New Club Formed at N.H.S.

Rotary Interact Club is a service organization dedicated to community service and carries out at least two service projects a year. One serves the school or community and the other furthers international understanding. Interact stands for International Action. An important aspect of this club which separates it from other clubs is the international perspective. For 1995, the first year for the Interact Club at NHS, the members worked on a drive collecting eyeglasses from local churches, recreation centers, and businesses throughout the community. The club shipped the eyeglasses to an optometrist who traveled through the Amazon donating eyeglasses to those in need in less-developed countries. Interact hopes to help not only those in other countries to see better, but help those in our community see the world better.

Welcome Committee

Adopt-A-Student is an organization that helps new students feel welcome as they come to Northville High School. Members are matched with newcomers according to interests. Led by Mr. Maile, Adopt-A-Student volunteers lead new students to their classes and meet each other at lunch and at some school activities. After a few meetings, students feel comfortable and make new friends in the process.

Palladium Earns National Awards

Imagine, thousands of pictures, layouts, and folders scattered about a classroom. Then imagine attempting to pool the entire mess into a nationally recognized yearbook. This task was accomplished by our dedicated workers, section editors Pat McNeal, Andrea Crawford, Karen Roach, and Adrienne Dunkerley, and editors-in-chief Kathy Smith and Shea Collins; all supervised by our sponsor Janice Olson. Our hard work was recognized by Walsworth Publishing Company. They inducted us into their Gallery of Excellence. This honor is given to less than ten percent of Walsworth yearbooks with displayed throughout the world.

The Place for Pep

This year the pep club has spread spirit throughout the school. While working at the football and basketball concession stands, the members were also cheering our Northville teams to victory. With much enthusiasm, the Pep Club ran Spirit Week, making it an exciting morale booster for all students. The Pep Club helps us unite into a spirited school, where we can proudly root for Northville High.

S . A . D . D .

This year's S.A.D.D. students have been busy promoting their beliefs of not drinking and driving. Their member list has grown to an all time high. These active students started out the year at the Victorian Festival, gave NHS students a chance to drive a car that simulates driving drunk, and put on a science of a drunk driving accident at Maybury Madness. Later in the year, they got our community involved in ice skating at Ford Field, and shoveled snow covered driveways. They met throughout the year, with monthly meetings on the first Wednesday of every month. S.A.D.D. definitely got their message out this year; Stay alive, don't drink and drive.

Faraway Places, Faraway Lands

Oye! Oye! One of this year's newest groups is one started last year by junior, Jessica Schiedt. This group has taken the initiative and finally been promoted to an official activity. They have recruited many students who enjoy getting away from modern day by traveling into another country and time period in their heads. During their beginnings many of the administrators argued their validity, but through hard work on all of the members parts they have managed to convince the truth into the officials minds. This year the group has been able to participate in conjunction with the Society for Creative Anachoranism to enjoy some of the local medieval events. They delve into the medieval society by taking the place of a made up character and living there lives while at these events. All of the students enjoy this fantasy get away and hope that this group continues for students in years to come.

Of battles won, and battles lost
Of victory, at any cost
And on that field we sold our souls
For far much more than mortal gold.
We fought for honor, bled for pride
We all reached far deep down inside.
We came as boys, we left as men
But some will not return again.
Our time has come, the torch passed on
Our years of high-school football gone.
And on that cold October night
The final battle we did fight
One team, one horse, we brought them down
And kept the jug within our town.
United strong, we could not fall
Stood for one, and one for all.
So as the years begin to wane
Never forget, we finished the Game.

Cheerleaders: Building School Spirit.

The cheerleading program at NHS has become a competitive sport as sponsored by the Michigan High School Athletic Association (MHSAA). There are three teams at NHS: Varsity, J.V. and Freshmen. An additional team, the competitive cheer team, consists of Varsity and J.V. cheerleaders. NHS is known in the MHSAA for the team's ability to build difficult stunts and perform technically complex routines. The cheerleaders continue to keep sideline support and spirit activities a number one priority.

N.H.S. WRESTLING

Struggle: a word all wrestlers know well. This year's group of grapplers worked out and practiced hard to complete a successful season.

Garnett Potter began a new era as coach this year. He utilized his own experiences as a Mustang grappler to lead the team. Seniors Joe Scappaticci and Nick Bowersox were also leaders of team in their final season by acting as team captains.

For the eighth straight season, an NHS wrestler has participated in the state final tournament. Nick Bowersox and Sam Saran both qualified to compete in the extremely tough matches of this event.

With changes in coaching and strong underclass performers, the wrestling team shows promise for a strong season next winter.

A Northville wrestler easily pins his competition to the mat.

Wrestlers spend many hours working to preparing themselves for the tough competition they are up against.

Nick Bowersox was a stronghold of the wrestling team and participated in state finals this season. As one of two seniors on the team, he also acted as captain.

Men's Cross Country

The Mustangs were led by captains Jeff Zwiesler and Nathan Kirmis. Fellow seniors Scott Lloyd and Sean Hollister provided a solid core for the Mustang runners. Junior Dwight VanTuyl earned All-Division honors as the Mustangs completed the season in third place. Ravi Mujumdar's efforts won him the title of the team's most improved runner, while freshman Tim Schovers was an unexpected bonus as the team's fifth runner. They had a 2-3 division and a 3-3 season. The Mustangs earned third in their division, eighth in the conference, and tenth in the region.

The 1994-95 Pom Pon Team wowed audiences throughout the year under the coaching of Cheri Warner. They began their season by taking first place for Junior Marching in the Northville Fourth of July Parade. Their success continued when attending summer camp at Grand Valley State University, where they earned several ribbons, including first places for both kickline and original routine. Team members Nikki LaLonde, Sandy Morante, Melissa Millgard, Chrissy Collings and

The team's kickline won awards at camp and delighted the student body at pep rallies.

Becky Engle made the Mid American All-Star Team.

The Pom Pon Team also performed half-time routines at varsity football, soccer, and basketball games; performed for the students of Old Village School; and helped host the first annual N.H.S. Open House.

The girls brought home a third place for their Dance Competition and went on to state competition for the third year in a row. From their annual girl-guy routine, to statewide competition, the Pom Pon Team enthusiastically demonstrated both school and civic pride and spirit.

Summer Institute

Shailesh Humbad

Seven months after Summer Institute, I can look back and say it was one of the best times of my life. One hundred of us gathered together from literally every corner of the state to learn about a self-chosen subject. What we ended up learning was how alike we all were and how silly it is to hate someone. Through the many scheduled activities, we all somehow became friends. I think I learned more about people there than I did about the subject I chose.

Monica Nayakwadi

My intensive at the Adrian College Summer Institute was Cultural Anthropology. In the SEEKS program (Sustaining the Environment through Experience, Knowledge, and Skills), I learned about a variety of cultures including several indigenous tribes. I explored and worked with the waning wetlands. I enjoyed learning more about myself with other open-minded students while making great friends at the same time.

Andy Song

Last summer, I attended a Michigan Summer Institute at Eastern Michigan University. The program was a very memorable and beneficial experience. I met many different people and became great friends with my roommates. Each day I attended a class which followed a rigorous curriculum covering the law. Plus daily activities and group sessions which emphasized cooperation and teamwork created a positive and friendly atmosphere. If I could, I would do it all over again.

Christine Kapusky

During the summer of '94, I spent two weeks at Adrian College. The intensive I was chosen for was Improvisational Theatre. This experience gave me an opportunity to meet students and counselors from all over Michigan. One of my most valued memories was the nightly peer group sessions in which each person offered support, broadened horizons, voiced opinions, and molded friendships.

Aaron Troschmetz

Aaron attended a one week institute at Northern Michigan University where he studied environmental science.

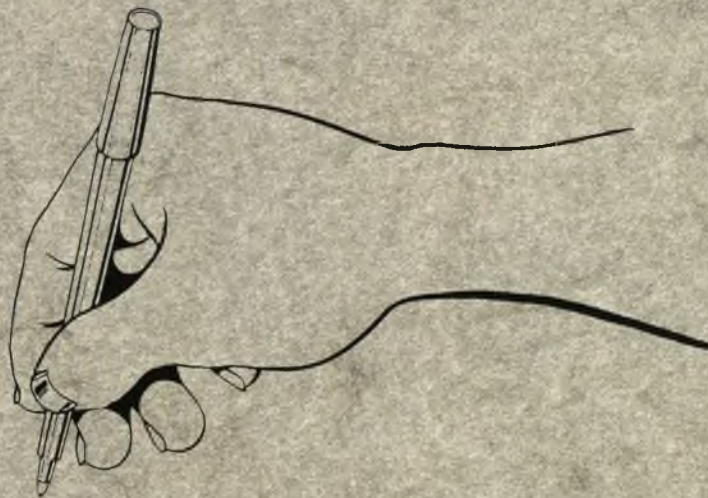

Kathy Smith

I studied Cultural Perspectives at Adrian College. I learned about cultural attitudes in the community, country, and the world. Through exploratory sessions and peer group discussions, I learned about the wetlands, self-defense, geese, and group skills. I also met some great lifelong friends.

Student Art

Throughout the years, Northville has had its share of talented artists pass through its hallways. This year, many students were given the opportunity to sell their art work at the Victorian Festival. Some artists were able to be rewarded for their labors when people bought their work. As always, Northville had many pieces worth viewing, some of which are pictured below.

Michelle Bufton was one of Northville's Key Winners.

Justin Jezewski was a Key Winner.

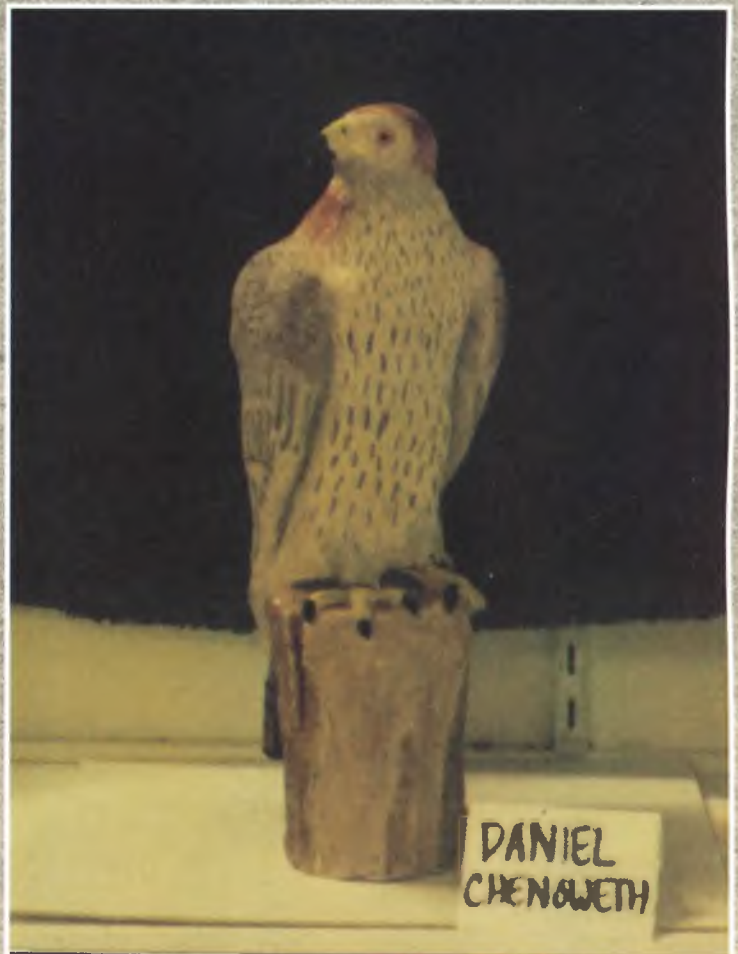

Tomm Chicoine earned awards for this drawing.

Student art is always displayed in the showcase.

This beautiful Eagle by Daniel Chenoweth won a Key Award.

Harvey, the Imaginary Rabbit

The fall play, Harvey, took a lot of dedicated workers and effort. Excitement was high on each of the four shows and each member of the cast and crew deserves a pat on the back. Harvey is a play about a man who befriends an invisible rabbit. The invisible rabbit took quite a few special effects from the tech crew. The play itself was the story of Elwood P. Dowd and his friend Harvey, an invisible rabbit. They go through many trials and tribulations to finally find out that friendships are often not visible friendships. The most trying week for all of the students and adults involved is the week of opening night, also known by students as h - e - double hockey stick week! Even with the nerves racing, the four shows turned out to be a hit that adults and kids alike enjoyed.

Beth Patterson prepares for opening night.

Bernie Tomsa directs James Currie to his new home in a mental institution.

Matt Seluk gives Chrissy Kapusky a talk about the new patients.

Meredith Belloli "fixes" Kristyn Dunnaback's hair for the show.

Mary Rivard, Andy Comb, and Bernie Tomsa confer on the condition of Uncle Bob.

The Hill Came Alive With The Sound of Music

The NHS Spring Musical, The Sound of Music, was a total success this year. Beth Patterson played the lead female for second year, and senior Andy Comb, whose acting career debuted in the fall play, stole the lead male part. These actors and others including Justin Lee, Colleen Audet, Melissa Sparks as well as the rest of the cast sang splendidly. Mandy Hallberg, the Assistant Director, worked well with Mike O'Brien, Head of Lights and Sound; Ben Adis and Erica Whichello, Heads of the Painting Crew, Tim Beemer, Head of Tech, and all crew members under the direction of Director Gary Sturm to make the performances run smoothly. The Von Trapp's visit to NHS was truly a musical experience to remember.

Friendships are made through the long hours of preparing for the big performance.

Director Gary Sturm show the actors and actresses how to dance correctly.

The Director and Assistant Director take a break with Beth. The crew remains smiling despite the long hours of work they put into the show.

Mary Rivard, Kara Lloyd and Chrissy Kapusky all take a break from the stage scene.

Ben Adis made sure the set looked great!

1995

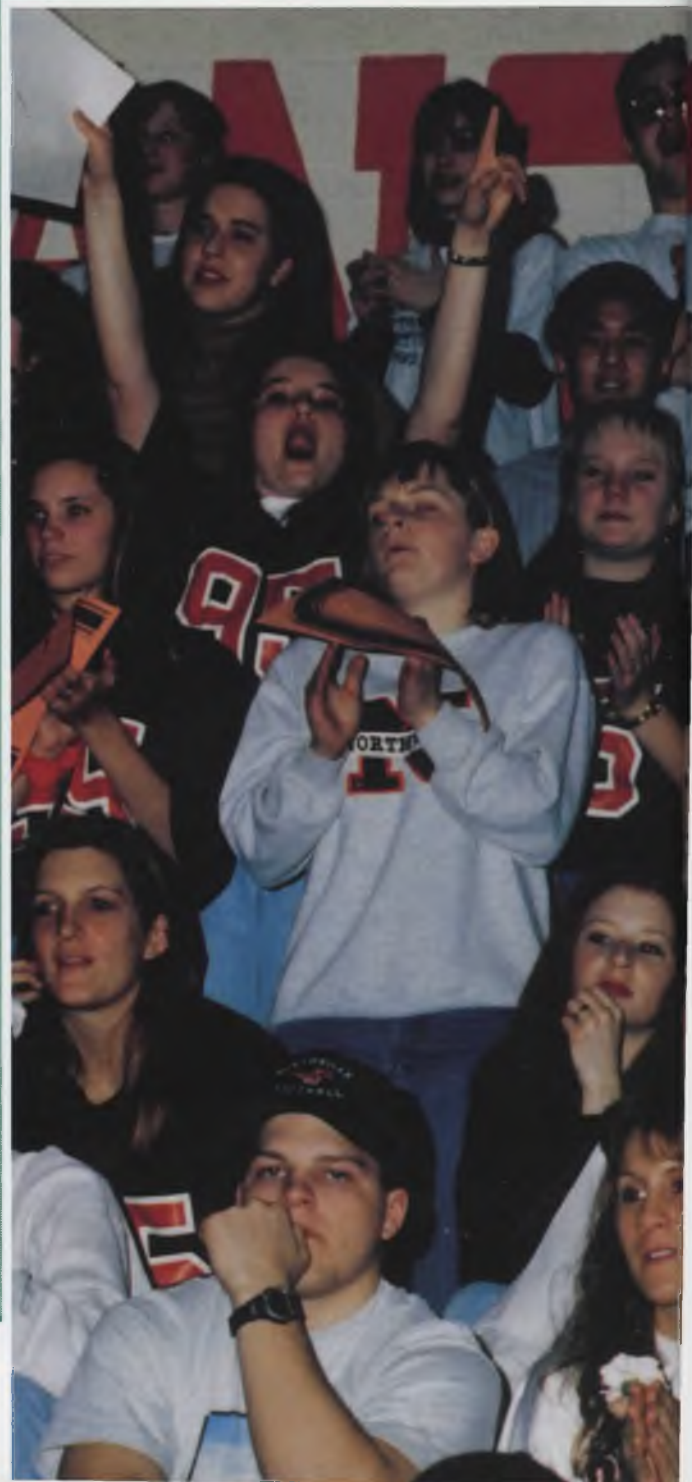

Seniors

Sandy Morante and Dave Leavitt enthusiastically represented the senior class as Homecoming Queen and King.

Seniors were happy to show their spirit at this year's pep rallies after last year's was cancelled.

The Class of 1995 capped off their high school careers with an amazing year. They continually showed their spirit through their involvement in Homecoming week and class fundraisers. These fundraisers included a summer car wash, the selling of root beer floats and the annual discount card sale. With everyone's effort, the Seniors were able to hold their Prom at the Hyatt Regency in Dearborn. The Class of 1995 was led by the class officers and involved members.

Jodi Fischer, Anthony DeBenedet, Brad Borgia, Sandy Morante, and Lindsay Petrie did their best to represent seniors as the 1995 class officers.

Our student congress representatives spent their Tuesday mornings planning new activities to make our senior year more fun.

Farb is so determined to help the senior class win class competition that he runs too fast for the camera to clearly capture his image.

Seniors Recognize Times to Remember...

The End of a Memory

Time falls like a light mist on the bridge, ready to fade away, but easy to remember.
The sun and its gallant rays lead us through the pathways which open the door to experiences never forgotten, retained for a lifetime growing at a degree, mentally and physically.
We advanced rapidly,
guided by the river of determination
excelling to the sea of happiness and success.
We stand together,
our differences do not let us part for we belong to a group
labeled by age,
recognized through time
as the senior class of 1995.
Do not forget the times we shared,
for we will not receive another chance to express the feelings of our dance.

By: Jason MacIver

What's the craziest thing a teacher has ever done?

Mr. Balcoff said "okay" at least 100 times during class. --Melanie Bliss

Mr. Urban let us out of class 30 minutes before the bell rang one day in 10th grade when we had a different lunch. --Chris Kull

Repeated the word "Ah" while looking at the ceiling 476 times in 1 hour. --Cathy Koster

One day when Mr. Slattery subbed for Ms. Zidell, he threw a plastic bottle at the garbage can and missed. --David McCulloch

Told my sister that the quotation marks on her paper were backwards and told us to get a new computer that had the marks the right way! --Katrina Heckemeyer

Naive and misguided
we crossed the bridge for the first time, leaving the top of our mountain to climb another.
Two middle school rivals unified as one realizing the memories were yet to come.

The first day of school, with nerves ablaze,
we wandered the halls like rats in a maze.
Our first challenge arrived:
to build the Homecoming float.
too bad it barely stood, that poor Billy Goat!
That Friday night was over and we were glad but only to get a ride to the dance from Mom and Dad.

Summer came and all too soon
we were Sophomores with a new attitude.
No longer at the bottom of the pile
our experiences would push us that extra mile.

This time our King Kong took second place
Seniors stole first with a grin on their face.
Pay-to-play saved the day
even though it wasn't our parents favorite way.
We began to dissect pigs with a gross fright,
but by the end, we cut them apart with delight.
Then came the food fight, making us smell causing the administration to yell!

We cruised into Junior year, parking on Baseline, oh that fortunate road so near.
The Homecoming excitement was here once more with a Star Trek float that just didn't score.
But that's no big deal!
Our football was at its best
"To the dome," we must go - we fought without rest.
On graduation day, we said good-bye to the Class of 1994 realizing we didn't have much more until we would be in their spot.

Senior year finally came
"Finally," we thought, "it's our time to rule!"
We were at the top,
this was our school!
Homecoming was going to be our time,
our turn to win
we couldn't believe it
the Nields beat us again!
"That's OK," we figured, "We'll get 'em during the Spirit Week gig!"
But we lost once more this things gotta be rigged.

First semester, we thought, "Will this ever end?"
Mr. Dent, Humanities and his jokes we did tend But finals came and Kirmis shaved his head while mixed emotions of future plans were shed.
Friends forever, our motto still stands
as we group together hand in hand.
For now, new dreams are growing clear but we must remember to keep our high school memories dear.

This year we believe the students met this criteria. As they will not be giving individual speeches at the commencement exercises, these fourteen students were asked to share their thoughts.

1995 Juniors

Junior Class homecoming representatives were Justin Lee and Chrissy Kapusky.

Juniors crowd for a picture before the parade begins.

Kate Vanderworp, Katie Kulp, Karen Roach, Tom Howie, Rob Ghannam and Kristy Deleonardis enjoy a great chemistry lesson.

The Junior Class had a very successful year under the leadership of President Katie Johnson, Vice-President Kashif Siddiqi, Treasurer Matt Minard, and Secretary Andrea Morrow. A first place victory in the Homecoming float building contest kicked off the year. Next, the Juniors got to show off their marketing skills during the highly profitable Magazine Sale. The class also showed its spirit by participating in many other activities such as car washes, the Victorian Festival, and the annual charity event. The Class of 1996 continues to pull together as the date of their spectacular prom draws near!

1997 Sophomores

Class of 1997's Homecoming representatives Andy Fee and Theresa Marek

The float builders take a break from painting

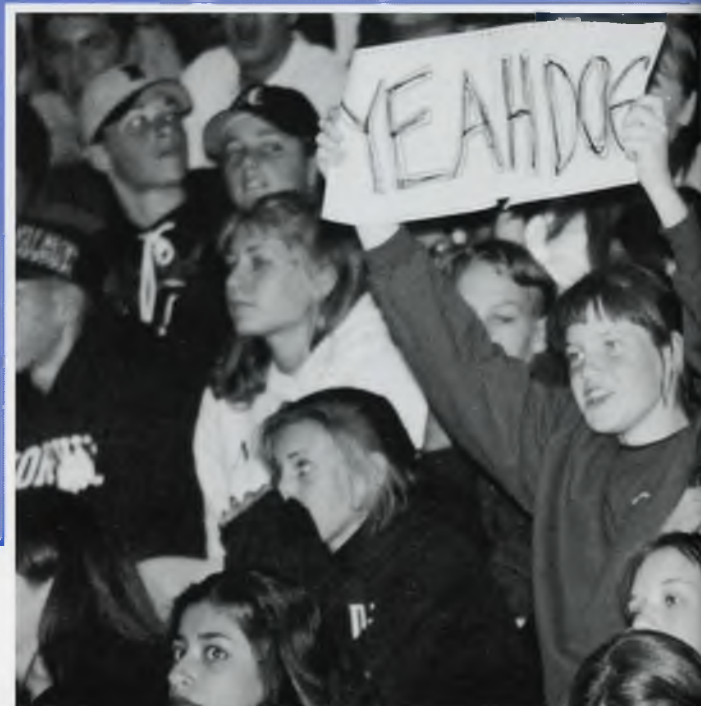

This year the class of 1997 is under the leadership of President Matt Zielinski, Vice-President Andy Fee, Treasurer Andy Vartanian, and Secretary Wendy Tao. We also have a great group of representatives involved in student congress.

Homecoming this year was a busy one as many students participated in building the float. Through we didn't get first place, those who helped should be proud of the final product.

The Sophomore Class has planned over ten fund-raisers for the 1944-95 school year. We have planned candy and flower sales, car washes, pop-bottle collections and even a Sadie Hawkins dance with pep club. Our freshman year proved that we have the ability to reach our high set goals and ambition. The class of 1997 will continue to work together in order to raise money and spirit as we get one year closer to our final one.

Sophomores show school spirit at the pep rally.

Student Congress Representatives: Tina Juntuunen, Dave Craig, Sara Cooley, Mike McNally and Julie Damico

Sophomore class officers: Matt Zielinski, Andy Vartanian, Wendy Tao and Andy Fee

1998 Freshmen

Freshmen display hidden enthusiasm at NHS pep rallies!

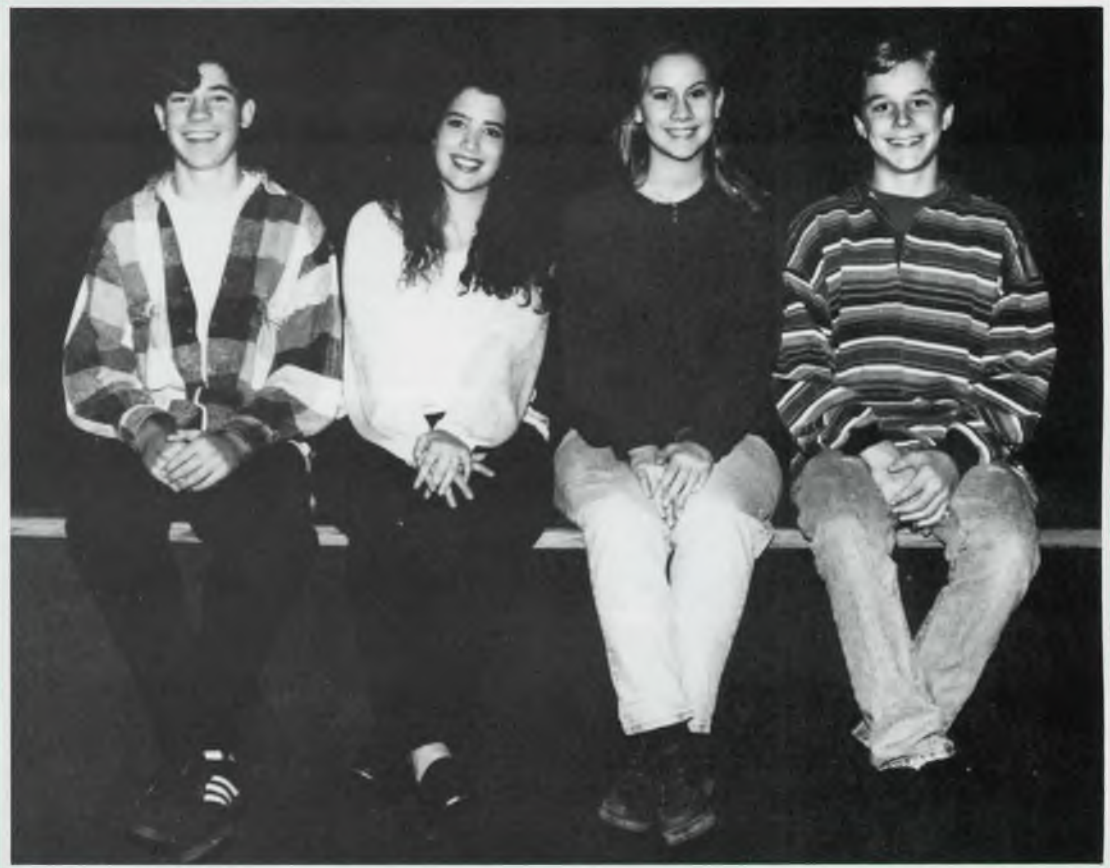

"On August 31, 1994, all Freshmen walked into this new and foreign place. We soon realized that Northville High School is a drastic change from middle school, a definite change for the better. We are looking forward to our years here, because we know they'll be the best of our lives," Adam Tibble. The freshmen have been doing their best to in this year, and have succeeded. With any activities that come their way they have accepted the challenge and made a place for themselves here. They will continue to show in their next three years here at N.H.S.

These girls fit right into the high school's cafeteria scene, without being razzed by upperclassmen.

It may be a nice place for a picnic but are you sure outside of the auditorium is the place?

Mr. Ed Krietz became the Athletic Manager at N.H.S.

NHS has seen many changes this year. With the flood of retirements last year, many new faces appeared on the Northville High School Staff. A new curriculum was tried with future planning sessions on Wednesday mornings, and half hour classes starting at 10:40, for the remainder of the day. To compete among other school districts, new A.P. classes were offered, and six ran. Incidents like the singing genie coming to school, and the skunk problem in the science hall, made the 1994-95 school year truly unique.

Student and faculty enjoyed expanded use on the internet.

Newly painted stripes made N.H.S. user friendly

The new locker setup frustrated many students as they dealt with new locations and combinations.

The genie from Alladin sings happy birthday to a sophomore.

Time Capsule

Governor John Engler meets with Rhianna Horan, Stephanie Simpson, Pat O'Brien, Angie Dendel, Jeff Nield, Eric Moor, Leslie Snyder, Sarah Taylor, and Kay Yoshida at Diamond Automation in Farmington on November 8, 1994.

A.P. classes were run for the first time at N.H.S.

A water main break by the bridge sent students home early.

The baseball strike left ballparks empty.

The hockey walkout left fans fed up.

The senior mural was censored for Spirit Week.

Students enjoy sleeping in on Wednesday mornings.

Mrs. Nancy Brown was honored as Creative Writing Teacher of the Year in 1993.

Exemplary English Teacher Retires

Mrs. Nancy Brown decided she wanted to teach in the seventh grade. After working for her degree at Eastern Michigan University, the University of Maryland, the University of Missouri, and the University of Strasbourg, she began teaching elementary school in Kansas City. After teaching all grades in Missouri, Maryland, and Michigan, she arrived at NHS in 1970. In 1978, Mrs. Brown took a leave of absence to accompany her husband in France. She returned over a year later to resume teaching and become Department Chair of the English Department. In addition to her work with students' writing, Mrs. Brown taught both the History and Literature sections of the Humanities class, bringing cooperative learning to the Forum. Former students remember Mrs. Brown's classes as challenging with the eradication of "Engfish" and entertaining as she shared her memories of growing up in Flint, travelling in Egypt, and serving on jury duty. Humanities students will always remember Mrs. Brown acting out the Ecstasy of St. Theresa--her favorite piece of art. Mrs. Brown is closely linked to the Northville community with her family living in the community and her two daughters, Sheri and Carolyn, having attended Northville schools. Mrs. Brown and her husband Bill will be traveling to Arizona to spend time with her daughter Sheri and her grandson Wesley.

Friends Forever

Aliisa and Shea

When you're the best of friends
 Havin' so much fun together
 You're not even aware
 You're such a funny pair
 You're the best of friends.
 Life's a happy game
 You could clown around forever
 Neither one of you sees
 Your natural boundaries
 Life is one happy game.
 If only the world wouldn't get in the way
 If only people would just let you play
 And say you're both being fools
 You're breaking all the rules
 They can't understand
 The magic of your wonderland.
 When you're the best of friends
 Sharing all that you discover
 When those moments have passed
 Will that friendship last
 Who can say
 There's a way
 Oh I hope I hope it never ends...
 'Cause you're the best of friends!

S.A.D.D. Member Purpose and Belief Statement

Northville High School Students Against Driving Drunk welcomes you to share our mission. We realize in Northville that 2/3 of the student population use alcohol. We believe that has the potential to change and we will not exclude students from membership who choose to drink as long as they accept these promises:

- 1. I will not drive drunk.*
- 2. I will not get into a car with a driver who is drunk.*
- 3. I will encourage my friends to do the same.*

IMAGINE

The dream for you all, young and old, must be to create an ideal of human decency, and not a narrow-minded and prejudiced one.

- Kim Malthe-Bruun

Northville High School in 1921.

Yearbook Turns Seventy-Five

As my colleague Julia J. Eisenlord, Editor-in-chief of the 1921 yearbook wrote in the Palladium, "It does not claim perfection; but it does hope sincerely that, in your judgement, the strong features will outnumber the weak." This challenge has been posed to the Palladium staff and advisors for seventy-five years. And now, at our platinum anniversary, we believe we have accomplished this goal with a nationally recognized book. For seventy-five years, the Palladium has seen many changes including new schools, countless renovations, and changes in staff and publishers. The tiny book of 23 pages has matured into our 229 page book. In the changing of time, the Palladium has changed and grown with our country and, we hope will do the same for years to come.

THEN

Immediate Aim:

The first aim of the Northville High School is to make manly young men and womanly young women of those who enter. It does not care for the attendance of those who would make a farce of coming and thus interfere with the good intentions of others.
